

A Study of Language Proficiency of Primary Schools Students in Context to Certain Variables

Guide

Dr. Ashaben Pandit

Principal,
M. M. Vaidya B.Ed. College
Ahmedabad.

Ph.D. Scholar

Bhavika G. Solanki

Gujarat University,
Navarangpura.
Ahmedabad – 09

1. Introduction

“The child is the future of the nation’s wealth.” The future of any nation depends on the country’s children. So, it is necessary to formulate the education policy of the nation by keeping in mind the abilities of the children of that nation to create a leading nation. The efforts should be done through education to develop various strengths, abilities, aptitudes etc. in here in the children by identifying them. Thus, the education is very useful to know the children and to find their innate strengths and abilities. The planning can be done to evaluate the children and to develop their strengths and abilities through education. The innate abilities in here in the child which arises from the experiences acquired from the environment surrounded by them. The child takes the knowledge of language at first from his own family environment. The child acquires the knowledge of language which is spoken in his home e.g., the child knows how to speak ‘Water’ but he does not know how to write it. In the same way he speaks some sings but he is unfamiliar with its writing. In our country the children got the conventional knowledge of the language at first from the elementary school from which they got at